AT THE AUDITORIUM.

Vaudeville and Motion Pictures. Every seat on the main floor of the Auditorium theatre was taken at both performances Monday evening and there were very few reserved seats left upstairs, when The College Widow, a sparkling musical comedy, was staged by the Bedore Musical Comedy company. There were 15 omedy company. There were labeled in the big cast, the major part usually pretty girls. and a number of handsome costumes were in evidence. There were severel pretty song numbers and some of the latest novelly steps were seen. Fea-turing the cast were Tommy Levene a natural comedian, and, dainty Cassio French, who were ably supported by the others in the cast. As a whole, the production was full of mirth and the highly delighted audiences wer kept on the stir all the evening. The same show will be repeated again to but there will be a complete change of scenery and costumes on Wednesday when a new bill will be Another attractive feature of the evening was the second episode of Terrance O'Rourke, with Warren Ker regan in the leading role. The other woffins were The Boy Mayor, picturing the actual juvenile government of Portland, Ore., and a comedy film that brought down the house. His Dorsone Luck, by the Nestor com-
